The Transition boot is made to accommodate a range of hoof problems that are usually present when long term shod horses transition from shoes. Despite this the hoof should be properly trimmed and excess flaring removed to achieve good fit. If you find that the transition sizing does not suit your horse, there are other boot styles that may suit this purpose too (with the addition of pads for comfort). Talk to Easycare Down Under for more information about these.

How to Properly Measure Your Horse's Hoof

1. After a fresh trim, measure the width of the hoof across the bottom at the widest point.
2. Measure the length of the hoof from the toe to the buttress line of the heel. The buttress line is the farthest weight bearing point of the heel where the hoof wall ends. Do not include the heel bulbs in the measurement.
3. Compare your measurement with the appropriate size chart. Please note that each boot style has its own unique size chart.
4. Ideally, the length and width measurement will fit into the same size. If the length and width measurements indicate different sizes, select the larger size. If the width and length measurements are different by more than one size, your selected boot style is not recommended.
5. * Be sure to check your measurements against an alternative boot in the EasyCare line—another style may accommodate your horse's hoof shape better.
6. *Note: If you are fitting an Easyboot Glue-On or Glove, width and length must fall into the same size.

We cannot over stress the importance of proper sizing!

You wouldn't go for a jog in ill-fitting sneakers, so why would you expect your horse to do the same?
